Cactus pruner damaged eyes at shopping centre

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE

jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

A WORKER was hospitalised after being injured by a cactus.

Carl Woodbridge was at the centre:mk to carry out pruning on several large cacti, one of which had become unstable. Magistrates heard how he did not have adequate training and protection.

The technician for Ambius, a subsidiary of Rentokil Initial UK Ltd, was pruning several of the cactus plants in October 2008 when he cut into a branch and liquid sap squirted into his right eye as he wasn't wearing any face or eye protection.

The sap also splashed his face, neck and arm which caused a rash.

Mr Woodbridge was taken to Milton Keynes Hospital and treated for the injuries.

In the longer term the injury to his eye resulted in Mr Woodbridge suffering from glare and having to wear glasses with an anti-glare lens fitted.

The investigation into the accident showed that Rentokil Initial UK Ltd had failed to provide adequate information, instruction and training to ensure the safety of its staff carrying out their work.

On Friday the company appeared in court to admit breaching three separate laws including the Health and Safety at Work etc. Act 1974 and regulation 3 of the Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations 1999.

One of the offences was failing to notify the local authority of the accident in the prescribed time.

Milton Keynes magistrates fined the company a total of £12,000 and it was also ordered to pay costs of £3,967.26. The magistrates acknowledged the improvements that the company had achieved following the accident, and said that the fines would have been a third higher but were reduced for the early guilty pleas.

A Milton Keynes Council environmental health spokesman said: "This was an entirely preventable situation if the work had been properly planned and implemented."

"This employee suffered considerable physical discomfort as a result of not receiving adequate training or guidance."

COME ON ENGLAND!

On the face of it

STUDENTS at Milton Keynes College have got their paint brushes out to show they have embraced the World Cup.

To mark the start of the 2010 FIFA World Cup on Friday the media make-up students have been testing out their artistic skills by painting faces in the flags of some of the competing nations.

And with England kicking off their campaign on Saturday against the USA it's no wonder the Stars and Stripes and St George's cross are, quite literally, going head to their heads.

STRANGE BUT TRUE

Free World Cup wee wees

AS the World Cup kicks off, city centre bosses are implementing a plan to ensure the festivities flow as smoothly as possible.

From Saturday, to coincide with England's first group game, revellers will be able to freely use the 'After8 Pee Pod – the Place to Wee' an outdoor urinal located on the outskirts of the Theatre District.

The Pee Pod is designed to offer drinkers a safe and convenient place to relieve themselves at the end of an evening, reducing the potential issue of street urination.

The Pee Pod will be open for use from 10pm until 4am every Friday and Saturday until the beginning of July.

AT A VENUE NEAR YOU

■ A NEW sports bar will open its doors to coincide with the start of the 2010 FIFA World Cup on Friday.

Cheerleaders Sports Bar will occupy the ground floor of the former Opus venue in the Theatre District.

Owners Nightlife MK Ltd have decided to rebrand and reinvest in their Opus venue which has been open for over three years.

The investment includes nine HD screens, a large HD projections screen, dual Sky HD to show up to four sporting events simultaneously. A unique 'stadium' area can be hired for groups of up to 40.

■ THE Grebe in Great Holm will have a large screen and a VIP area which offers waitress service for £5 per head during the World Cup, and all proceeds will go to Macmillan Cancer Support.

The venue will display all 32 countries' flags on the ceiling which will be auctioned off as each country in knocked out as part of the fund raising.

Two outside televisions will show the games, sweepstakes, guess the goal, BBQs and discos playing football songs will also take place.

■ MILTON Keynes' biggest nightclub will transform into a sports bar for the World Cup.

Oceana, in the Xscape, will open the Rhythm Room for free for all of England's group games. There is also the offer of the 'WAG's delight' fishbowl cocktails, and the promise of an after party.

Watch England in style

THE home of football in Milton Keynes, stadiummk, is playing host to an evening of entertainment when England play Algeria next week.

MK Dons and Doubletree by Hilton Milton Keynes have put together a package for fans to enjoy England's second Group C match at the Clydesdale Bank Ballroom on Friday, June 18.

Tables of ten will enjoy a two-course buffet, a World Cup quiz before watching England.

The packages are available at £235 including VAT per table of ten or £25 including VAT per person.

For more information call 01908622884 or e-mail commercial@mkdons.com

Shirts are the business

SHIRT making store T M Lewin has designed a collection especially for this year's World Cup.

The range includes ties, cufflinks and collar stiffeners to ensure even business people who want to show their allegiances can do so in a subtle way.

Their items which include St George's Cross cufflinks, football boot cufflinks and England silk ties, are all available at the MK branch.

Discount cups

A RESTAURANT is asking customers to take advantage of a World Cup special offer that could save them 25 per cent on their bill if they take a cup along.

Red Hot World Buffet in the Theatre District have launched a new promotion 'Red Hot World Cup' which encourages people to bring their own cup along when they go for a meal – the wackier the better.

Egg cups, cricket cups, coffee cups, you name it Red Hot want it.

The best and most original cup idea throughout the promotion, from June 11 to July 8, Monday to Thursdays, will win a meal for four.

Watch in 3D

CAN'T make it to South Africa to watch the World Cup in person? Well John Lewis believe they have the next best thing for you.

The department store have the brand new Samsung 3D ready TVs available in their Milton Keynes branch.

So when Cristiano Ronaldo shapes up to shoot you can imagine you are sat in the stand as the ball flies in your direction.

You will flinch as Wayne Rooney thunders into a tackle, and feel in arms reach as Lionel Messi dazzles on one of his magical runs.

The 3D television experience will be complete with the 3D ready TV set, a 3D Blu-ray DVD player and 3D glasses.

E-W rail link plan is on track after study

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

COMMUTERS are closer to reaching Oxford in just 41 minutes after a significant step in a project to rebuild a railway line.

A feasibility study has come out in favour of the East West Rail Link, which will see abandoned track between Bletchley and Oxford revived.

On the basis that the scheme is accepted by the Department for Transport, trains could be open for service in late 2016 early 2017.

This so-called western section of the upgrade – which forms a wider link between East Anglia and Bristol – is set to cost £178million.

The East West Rail Consortium ultimately wants to establish train services between Reading, Milton Keynes and Bedford, and London Marylebone to Milton Keynes via High Wycombe and Aylesbury.

Aylesbury will be reachable within 33 minutes and High Wycombe in 58.

It is not since 1968 that passengers travelled along the route, though part has been used for freight.

The next step is to submit the scheme to the Government in the autumn.

Despite the constraints on the availability of money, the consortium is confident of its scheme's value for money.

In fact it says the benefits are five times higher than the costs.

However, Richard Crane, chairman of the Bedford to Bletchley Rail Users' Association, believes the initial scheme needs to go further.

He said: "We welcome every step forward but we still emphasise that the Bletchley to Bedford track should be included in phase one so trains run through to Bedford via places like Woburn Sands rather than going between Oxford and Milton Keynes. The Marston Vale Line will only be secure once it is part of a wider rail network."

OU venue for PM's belt-tightening speech before a latte and flapjack at rail station

THE Prime Minister chose the Open University library as his setting to herald the 'inevitably painful times that lie ahead of us'.

David Cameron was in the city once again on Monday to hammer home the debt crisis, which totals £770billion.

He was joined by new Chief Secretary to the Treasury, Danny Alexander, as he outlined the need for a leaner public sector.

The country's media, OU staff and city MPs Mark Lancaster and Iain Stewart gathered to hear that, without action, in five years Britain will spend more on the interest on its debt than it does on its schools.

Mr Cameron last came to Milton Keynes on March 27 – the day it was thought the election would be called – to launch his campaign.

Returning as the premier he praised the OU and was heard asking Mr Alexander as they left 'it's an amazing place, have you been here before?'

■ CAFE workers were surprised to serve Mr Cameron a modest snack

Pumpkin manager Micheala Howson with the PM after his visit to the Open University after his belt-tightening speech.

The PM went to Pumpkin at the railway station, just minutes after appearing in front of the country's media.

As his speech was being replayed on the cafe's television, he forked out £3.84 for a medium latte and a flapjack, before sitting down in view of the screen.

Supervisor Gina Harding said: "There were police dogs outside – then a customer came up to me and said the Prime Minister's here. Then he appeared behind her."

He even had to ask manager Micheala Howson to open the locked toilet for him to use.

She said: "He was really nice. Much taller than he looks on TV. He looks better in the flesh. I said to him, 'are you back to London now – easy day today then', and he laughed."

New MK logo is an opportunity missed

SIR – I have to say that I am totally underwhelmed after seeing the new MK logo and feel that an opportunity has been missed to really produce an iconic and historic logo as say on the lines of the Milton Keynes Council crest which has stood the test of time for over 30 years.

There is not even a memorable strap line along the lines of 'By Knowledge Deign and Understanding' again on the Milton Keynes crest.

The new logo could have included buildings such as the Xscape, Point, Centre MK and Midsummer Place.

Resignation issue

SIR – I would like to respond to the leader of the council's remarks in your item (Blue view of event disappoints leader).

Cllr Tallack is right, I was elected as a Lib-Dem councillor in 2000. Since then I have been Mmayor, chairman of the council group twice, a member of the cabinet for two years and Lib- Dem chairman or spokesman on a number of committees.

I think that gives me the status of a senior member of the party and not a disillusioned back bencher.

When I resigned I did not do it lightly, I first decided when I stood down from the cabinet last year but was persuaded to stay.

I also handed a letter of resignation to the then leader and chairman of the party on February 23 this year.

Again I was asked to not go public till after the election for reasons I am sure you can understand.

If Cllr Tallack believes I have not explained my reason for leaving he has two options.

Firstly he could speak to me, which he has not done since taking office, or he could ask the last two leaders or chairmen.

I have no intentions of going public as I believe these are internal matters.

I would say to the people of Bradwell Ward for those of you who voted for me because I was a Lib-Dem I will still work as hard as I can for you.

For the people who voted for me because they thought I was the best person for the job I will keep repaying your faith.

Finally this was a very hard decision to make and not one I did on a whim. I did not, as implied, just walk out or throw my toys out of the pram.

What I did was stand by my beliefs which I hope people will understand is the right thing to do.

Cllr Phil Gerrella

New resident's 'buzz' at Arts Open Weekend

SIR – I have just relocated to the city and I was delighted to experience my first MK Arts Open Weekend on 1 May 15.

So much cultural activity happening in a very young city is something very inspiring to regional neighbours and surely something every resident can be proud of as well as share in.

I was especially overwhelmed to see the BBC's Blast event was located at the old Bus Station in CMK.

I am aware of the mass regeneration project local organisation, Make a Difference, has undertaken at the site and am thrilled to see that even the 'good old Beeb' has caught the buzz around the Buszy!

What a fantastic way to get young people involved in the creative industries and basing it at a site which I'm sure, once completed, will be filled with just as much imaginative activity and opportunity for our younger residents (if not more) and hopefully some of the good stuff for us oldies.

Well done to all involved in the Arts Open Weekend – just shows what a vibrant city we really do have and am looking forward to making my home here.

Linda Orton
(Very impressed new resident to MK)

Get off your high horse!

SIR – Your correspondent (Not the ticket, Letters June 2) tries to make us all feel guilty about not living in the Third World under a dictatorship and having access to clean water and our children having an education, etc, etc, merely because we use these pages to complain about the current state of the buses.

Although these are important issues, we are dealing with an issue that affects bus users in Milton Keynes.

We are using the only means available to air our views, writing to the council or the bus company has met with little or no response.

We all need a public voice.

People need to be aware that they are not alone, that is why we write to newspapers.

The writer herself uses the same means to complain about the people complaining about the buses.

We are organising rather than just complaining. There will be a meeting on Friday, June 11 at the Guildhall, Christ the Cornerstone church in CMK, 2-4pm, organised by Milton Keynes Older Persons' Forum. There will be various interested bodies at the meeting, including representatives from Arriva and MK Council and bus user groups.

This is a result of a flood of complaints Arriva has received – so we ARE being active, thank you very much. It is at least misinformed and at worst an insult to say 'get on your bike'.

Car sharing is OK if you all work, shop, socialise or study in the same place or in the same direction at the same time of day but some of us are unable to 'get on our bikes', car sharing may be an option for commuters, but it is not that easy to organise off-peak.

Think, lady, think. There are the elderly, the disabled and the socially vulnerable who would find it difficult or impossible to organise car sharing or group taxis.

It could also lead people into all kinds of situations.

We like to have our independence and not rely on the goodwill of others. Would you get in a car with someone you don't know?

This is not a practical solution when you stop to think about it, for anyone who uses the buses off-peak for shopping, doctor appointments or hospital appointments for example.

Think of mothers with babies or small children, which brings me to the worst aspect of all this, it is a discrimination against certain groups of people who live in MK, and not in line with the model of accessibility which MK proudly boasts.

There are those who don't have the means to run one or even two cars, those who are older and those who can't drive – or ride a bike.

No, we are not serial complainers – we merely use this as a means of getting our point across.

This lady is obviously not a regular bus user, otherwise she would realise how frustrated people really are.

Perhaps she could give people a lift on her high horse?

Tom Gaunt

■ SIR – I have no personal interest in Milton Keynes's buses, but take exception to Belinda Minshall's 'count your blessings' attitude to the victims of the recent changes (Letters, June 2), which reminds me of those who excused South Africa's apartheid system by saying that most other Africans were still worse off.

Yes, we have freedom of speech and can elect our leaders, who don't have to subordinate out needs to IMF diktats. But we still have multiple standards for different modes of transport, with bus users at the bottom.

The new Transport Minister announced that the Government was calling off a largely non-existent war on motorists even as it prepared to launch a war on bus users through spending cuts.

Ms Minshall urges us to 'think green' but a truly green transport system requires most people to travel other than by car, and buses are often the only alternative.

Yes, people may be able to share cars or taxis to get to work, at least if their workplace has fixed hours.

But how, say, can one get to a hospital appointment that way? And even when sharing is possible it will just undermine our bus network and take us yet further from a green transport system.

As for cycling, motorists in Milton Keynes, as elsewhere, have made the roads unpleasant. The redways provide an alternative but often not a convenient one.

I agree with Ms Minshall that bus users should do something.

They should form a bus user group to exert pressure on local politicians.

They should write to their MPs demanding that the Government calls off its war on bus users, and any Lib Dem councillors asking why their party is supporting this war.

And they should ask why the Government is preparing to spend over £1bn on a single road scheme in East Anglia (the A14) – even the cost of the forthcoming public inquiry would go a long way towards procuring a good bus network.

MP first-past-the-post after 10 years of trying POLITICIANS may be known for carrying red boxes, but backbenchers are more familiar with hefty green postbags.

It is this vital daily correspondence which Iain Stewart is going to collect when I find him in Central Lobby.

He doesn't seem to have stopped smiling since his victory at the election count – despite three weeks of his alarm beeping at 5.45am to herald a 6.40am commute.

Not even the two cumbersome mailbags from his Milton Keynes South constituency and beyond can diminish the grin as we go to the famous riverside terrace.

Sitting beside the Thames is in itself symbolic: only MPs are allowed here and up until May 6 that was something the 37-year-old could merely dream of.

In fact, he still feels like he is dreaming.

"In some ways it hasn't fully sunk in yet. I still think someone's going to say why are you here?" he said.

It has been a long journey to Parliament. Selected as a candidate in February 2000, he fought in the 2001 and 2005 general elections, before he was third time lucky in 2010.

Growing up in the Labour heartland of Hamilton, near Glasgow, he went against the grain with his political leanings.

"I don't come from a political family. My parents haven't always voted Conservative. In fact my uncle is Labour. But there were a few instances in my childhood in Hamilton that struck me as wrong.

"Later I developed an interest in current affairs and a passion to find out why things were happening and who was making them happen. As I studied more I realised policies was at the centre of it."

Unlike many of the 226 new MPs, Iain can deftly navigate the building's labyrinthine layout having headed up the Parliamentary Resources Unit for several years.

"You do see new MPs with blank looks on their faces, but I feel like I got a bit of a head start," he said (though we are later reprimanded for walking in an area where the Speaker apparently does not favour guests).

As offices are still being assigned, nomadic MPs are sharing committee rooms or working from benches in corridors, while keeping their belongings in school-like lockers.

At his desk in the Lloyd George room, Iain divides his post into an invitations pile, a congratulations pile and a reading pile. The latter is by far the largest.

"Commuting gives a daily chance to read but I would need to travel beyond Rugby to get through even the first lot," he points out.

"Correspondence is usually about policy, asking why is this happening, the occasional thank you, though normally it's just someone asking can you do something."

Queries range from the design of street light design in Milton Keynes to the Arab-Israeli conflict.

He has stood for Parliament for nearly a decade but now Iain Stewart has finally won a seat in the House of Commons. Reporter JESSICA CUNNIFFE spent the day with the MP to find out how the new job is shaping up Seeming so at home in this guilded, plush setting, the Exeter graduate is quick to point out that he is not a 'career politician', with experience in the private sector as an account and head hunter.

Nor was he, like so many MPs, 'parachuted' into an unknown city, having lived in Walnut Tree in the early 1990s with a job at the CBX building.

Next we make our way to the modern Portcullis House for his healthy pre-PMQs salad and discuss the fact that his is a name often cited as one of the openly gay Conservative MPs.

"I went on a difficult journey coming to terms with my sexuality. In central Scotland they may be Labour but they are small c conservative and it's only been in the last ten years that the culture's changed. I don't want people to form a judgment on me because of that - it's as part of me as being right-handed and having hazel coloured eyes."

By 2.30pm it is time to enter the Chamber, where he will soon deliver his maiden speech, probably on the growth of Milton Keynes.

Here he witnesses the international development debate to see his colleague Mark Lancaster, MP for Milton Keynes North, asked a question.

Reserving his seat by coming in early he has cheekily taken the position of his predecessor Phyllis Starkey.

On the front benches, Lib Dems and Conservatives are squashed alongside each other. But is it a cosy coalition?

"The public have made their choice. They're expecting us to behave like grown ups and that's what we're doing. I sense a large bank of goodwill to make it work."

Nonetheless he vows to fiercely campaign to retain the first-past-the-post electoral system, come the promised referendum.

As David Cameron undertakes PMQs for the first time in the leading role, and Iain is revelling being somewhere that, since the early 1990s when he was a £2.50-an-hour MP's intern, he dreamed about.

So would he set his sights as high as the PMship?

"In a strange way I've fulfilled my ambition. I'm here. If my political career takes me no further than the backbenches no way do I regard that as a failure. I'm quite happy contributing to debates and looking after constituents. I'm loving it."

City girls to help stop footy fights

'I support lads that don't fight' World Cup campaign a wizard idea from Oz

A GIRL from Milton Keynes is set to have her face emblazoned across the city as part of a campaign to tackle drink related violence in bars and clubs.

Inspired by an approach in Australia, SaferMK launched the 'I support lads that don't fight' campaign on Monday to coincide with the start of the World Cup.

It will feature Maria Strolia, 20, from Downs Barn, who beat 175 other girls in the competition to be the face of SaferMK.

She said: "I go out a lot in Milton Keynes with friends and have experienced first hand how too much drink can lead to fights and people getting hurt. More often than not, if the lads involved were sober, they wouldn't get involved at all, but they seem to think it shows weakness to back down and walk away."

"This campaign is about letting lads know that us girls want them to be the bigger person by walking away from trouble. Girls don't find drunken violence attractive in any way, it just ruins everybody's night out and can end in someone being seriously hurt or worse."

She will be going out on promotional nights to coincide with England games, getting girls' support by handing out 'I support lads that don't fight' lip balm and flip-flops.

Natalie Webster, public place violence reduction co-ordinator, said: "Instead of using shock tactics and images of violence, we decided to adapt an idea which had been used in Australia and proved successful at capturing the attention of younger people.

"Our statistics show that the majority of violent incidents in Milton Keynes involve men and that's why we have decided to get the girls on board to help us spread the message. Lads are far more likely to take notice of a poster or message if it's being given by a girl."

Cops hunt redway sex attacker

A 16-YEAR-OLD girl was sexually assaulted as she walked along a redway.

On Saturday, June 5, the teenagers were walking along the redway adjacent to the H6 Childs Way across to the Barn restaurant between 11.30am and 12pm.

She was grabbed from behind and the man attempted to drag her backwards, but the girl fought back and managed to break free and run away towards Oldbrook.

The offender ran off in the direction of Fishermead.

The girl sustained a minor cut to her chest. As she was running away from the offender, she ran past four or five people who may be significant witnesses to the incident and police urge these people to come forward.

The offender is white, around 20-years-old, 5ft 6ins, average to large build and short, untidy brown hair. He was wearing a checked, long sleeved shirt with a white T-shirt underneath and he was carrying a brown bag with a strap across his chest.

The victim is white, 5ft 6ins and has shoulder length brown hair, in a bob-style. She was wearing a black and white short sleeved top, white shorts and black pump-style shoes.

■ Anyone who witnessed the incident or saw the victim or the offender in the area around the time of the offence, or has any information is urged to contact DC Tom Belcher on 0845 8 505 505 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Magical Menagerie in MK a first for UK

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE

jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

THE world's only square carousel is to be the centrepiece of the city's first ever international festival.

Giant buffaloes, exotic insects and tropical fish fill The Magical Menagerie, will be the crowing glory of the entertainment during IF: Milton Keynes International Festival.

The 49 people riding on it control the movements of the creatures who were brought to life by visionary artist and engineer Franaois Delaroziere, who worked on The Sultan's Elephant in London.

Arts Council England, which originally pledged £462,000 for the event, has added £100,000 to its donation to make The Magical Menagerie's inclusion possible.

It is the UK premiere of the installation, which has already appeared in Madrid, Spain, Portimo, Portugal and Antwerp, Belgium.

But it was originally commissioned for the French new town, Senart, and therefore the new city of Milton Keynes was thought the ideal place for its UK premiere.

The 40 tonne and 300 square metre masterpiece will occupy The Point car park during the festival, which takes place from July 16 until August 8.

It is produced by Artichoke in partnership with Sky Arts and supported by Arts Council

The 49 people who ride on The Magical Menagerie control the movements of the creatures England.

The fourth and most ambitious carousel created by La Machine, it took the skill and hard work of nearly 50 constructors, artists, engineers, wood carvers, locksmiths, specialists, set designers and technicians.

Nicky Webb, co-director of Artichoke, said: "All our work is about giving the public unforgettable, magical experiences that make them look at their surroundings in a different way. Milton Keynes is the perfect location for The Magical Menagerie."

The festival is being produced by The Stables in association with Milton Keynes Gallery with support from Arts Council England, Milton Keynes Council, Milton

Keynes Partnership, and Milton Keynes Economy and Learning Partnership.

Monica Ferguson, festival director said: "IF: Milton Keynes International Festival will redefine Milton Keynes as a place of artistic adventure."

Don't miss the bus protest meeting at the city church

DISGRUNTLED bus users are gearing up to get their voices heard at a city church.

A bus protest meeting will take place on Friday in Christ the Cornerstone to air the problems after the changes to timetables in April.

The city's MPs, councillors, MK Transport Partnership, Arriva Buses, Passenger Focus, Bus UK and disabilities forum representatives have all been invited.

Peter Ballantyne, Older Person's Forum chairman and organiser of the event, said: "The public has sent us many letters and complaints about the way the changes have affected their lives and should be a lively audience."

It takes place from 2pm until 4pm.

MK Council has been given a further £500k to install electric vehicle charging points across the city

City set for plug and go motors

THE city is on the road to running 1,000 electric vehicles by 2014 after receiving a £500,000 grant.

The funding, from the South East England Development Agency (SEEDA), will be added to the £2.3m 'Plugged in Places' government funding already available for 250 electric vehicle charging posts.

It will link two neighbouring South East growth hubs together, extending the economic and sustainability impact to Aylesbury, Bicester and Oxford.

This will enable two of the South East's key cities, Milton Keynes and Oxford, to work together to deliver a comprehensive network of charging posts and increase demand for electric vehicles over a wide geographical area.

The initiative is expected to generate £2.4m of private sector investment, significantly reduce carbon emissions and create demand for an additional 415 cars by 2012.

Private sector partners for the initiative currently include Mercedes and Nissan Technical Centre.

Oona Muirhead, group executive director of strategy and support at SEEDA, said: "This is a really exciting opportunity for Milton Keynes and the surrounding counties to grab sustainable transport by the horns and ensure that the South East retains its position as a globally competitive region."

"The initiative will provide added confidence to the electric cars market, support the South East's supply chain and contribute to the development of a long-term sustainable transport infrastructure. It's a huge step forward that will help pave the way for a sustainable future for generations to come."

David Hill, chief executive of Milton Keynes Council, said: "Milton Keynes has always been a pioneer for green technologies and initiatives and we are proud to give local people the opportunity to be at the forefront of electric vehicle use. We are ambitious and want to be an exemplar of low carbon living nationally and internationally. SEEDA's support will help us take another positive step as a show-case low carbon city."

Man is jailed after attempted burglary

A MAN from Tinkers Bridge has been sentenced to 16 months' imprisonment for an attempted burglary.

Lee William Johnston, aged 38, from Hatton, was sentenced at Huntingdon Crown Court on Thursday, June 3.

Johnston was arrested and charged in August 2009, after a burglary in progress was reported to police at a property in Pentland Crescent, Pennylands.

Following an area search, Johnston was arrested in connection with the offence.

DC David Phipps said: "I am pleased with the sentence given to Johnston and I hope this sends a warning to any would-be criminals; it doesn't matter if the burglary took place or it was an attempt, we will catch you, charge you, and put you before the courts where you could face imprisonment."

Is Cash for Trash coming your way?

TO celebrate three years of Cash for Trash, the council's incentive scheme rewarding residents who recycle, we will now be letting residents know one of the two areas we will be visiting each week.

While this won't increase the odds, we hope it will provide an added incentive to the residents of the area listed to make sure they are recycling correctly to be in with a chance of winning £100.

Every Friday we will list one area we will be visiting during the following week on our website www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/cashfortrash.

If your area is chosen, you will know there's a stronger chance that your address has been chosen at random by computer to be our £100 winner all you have to do is to make sure your recycling is sorted correctly and is left out on your property boundary by 7am.

Don't forget we will still be visiting a second secret location anywhere in the Milton Keynes Council area each week, so please make sure you are recycling the right materials to be in with a chance of winning.

If you pile up your bags with your neighbours, we won't know which bags belong to which property so you won't be able to win.

Since it began in June 2007, Cash for Trash, has given away in the region of £25,000 to lucky residents recycling the correct materials in their pink sacks, blue boxes and food and garden waste bins. Recently we've been out and about in Newport Pagnell, Bletchley, Neath Hill, Stantonbury, Crownhill and Shenley Lodge.

Our original sponsor Community Waste from our recycling facility gives away a cheque for £100, while our refuse and recycling contractor Serco offers £100 of Love2shop gift vouchers which can be redeemed at many high street outlets.

■ For more information on the Cash for Trash scheme, see a gallery of some of our recent winners and to check out the rules in full, visit www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/cashfortrash.

Cash for Trash

A recycling fact!

Recycling one tonne of paper saves 17 trees!
40% less energy is used making recycled paper compared to virgin paper.
Remember, paper can be recycled in your pink sack or in a recycling bank.

More chances to win money each week. £100 could be yours just for recycling.

Serco, who collect MK's recycling, have pledged £100 worth of Love2shop vouchers per week in addition to the £100 provided by Community Waste Ltd. With two £100 prizes up for grabs each week, there's no excuse not to recycle!

Warning to elderly over effects of too much sun

AS residents pine for good weather, the health authority is warning about the dangers of sunshine.

NHS Milton Keynes is issuing guidance to protect people in the event of a heatwave.

Heat Health Watch starts this month until mid-September, aiming to ensure wellbeing among those at risk during exceptionally hot weather.

Excessively hot weather can be especially harmful to older people, for example in August 2003 when there were 2,000 more deaths than would normally be expected in the over-75s.

They are warning people to look out for those who live alone, are isolated or have chronic and severe illnesses such as heart conditions, diabetes, respiratory or renal insufficiency, Parkinson's disease or severe mental illness.

Adrian House, emergency preparedness manager at NHS Milton Keynes, said: "Excessively hot weather can be harmful to all of us, but some of us are at particular risk. Everyone can minimise their risk of harm – be prepared by knowing how to protect your health during a heatwave."

Advice includes staying indoors between 11am and 3pm, keeping homes cool with blinds and curtains, using damp cloths on the back of your neck and drinking plenty of cold fluids.

Mr House added: "The NHS works closely with the local authority and other agencies to ensure that vulnerable people are protected from harm during a heatwave. However, we can all help look after those who find it more difficult to look after themselves.

"Be a good neighbour or friend and keep check on isolated, elderly or ill people every day during a heatwave. Be alert and call a doctor or social services if someone is unwell or further help is needed."

Gyosei homes buck the trend in housing market

DEVELOPERS are celebrating smashing their home selling targets at a site in Willen.

Barratt Northampton has sold 60 homes in the last year at its Gyosei, on Japonica Lane, worth more than £12million.

Paul Walker, sales director, said it had outperformed expectations.

He added: "Securing a sale a week would be branded a success in the height of the market. So we are delighted that Gyosei has continually performed just as well in the past year, despite difficulties within the housing market.

"It demonstrates that people are still keen to invest in bricks and mortar where new homes are concerned and this is fantastic news for the MK housing market."

Watch out for fake event tickets being sold online

SPORTS and music fans are being warned about fake ticket scammers fleecing unwary customers.

In Milton Keynes this summer high profile events at the Bowl with headliners such as The Prodigy and Pendulum are likely to be good hunting grounds for online con artists that leave customers high and dry without tickets, Milton Keynes Council has warned.

Meanwhile the Office of Fair Trading (OFT) is launching a Just Tick It campaign after research found one in twelve ticket buyers have been caught out by scam ticket websites.

This campaign provides a warning to festival-goers and sporting fans that summer events are also a peak time for scammers.

Kents Hill resident Vanessa Cook purchased two tickets for £120 to see Peter Kay in Manchester on May 22 but when she did not hear anything from the company, Worldwideticketstore.com she tried to contact them to chase up the tickets.

She found that the website was no longer operational and their phone number rang unanswered. She did a search on the internet and found that many other customers had paid for tickets they had never received and that the company had disappeared.

She said: "We run our own internet business. I looked at several sites and I thought that Worldwidetickets looked professional, which is why I decided to use them.

The Prodigy: Appearing at the Bowl

"We are obviously disappointed that we did not get to see the show and are £123 out of pocket.

"What I tell people now is to check everything, don't assume that because a website looks OK it will be OK, dig further. From now on I will stick with the big boys if I want to buy tickets."

'Sex Express' bus to show saucy artwork

A TABOO-BREAKING sex-themed exhibition is coming to Milton Keynes.

The 'Sex Express' does not just intend to get young people talking about sex but encourages them to make art about it.

Run by sexual health charity Brook, the Sex Express project will amass art by under 25s before taking a tour of the city.

It is the brainchild of Brook outreach officer Jennifer Hill, who insists that, while no entries will be censored, the more risqué pieces will be confined to the website.

Mrs Hill said: "It's about getting young people to think about something they find difficult to talk about and turning that into a piece of art."

"Then everyone's artwork will go on tour. The website will mean that anything we can't display can still be used. It's about explaining that sex and relationships aren't just about STIs and contraception, but also things like body image, friendship and love."

So far artwork includes a sunflower which represents coming out, a painting to illustrate gender differences, a piece conveying domestic violence as well as a painting on the topic of body image for disabled people.

The project begins with a two-week exhibition in Midsummer Place shopping centre in August, then will make its way round post offices, walk in centres, nightclubs, community centres and even the Celeb8 diversity parade.

All forms of art are welcome, including film, drawing, sculpture and painting.

If you are interested in being involved, or have an idea where the exhibition could stop, contact entries@thessexpress.co.uk.

A special 'thank you' day for Saxon nurses

A HOSPITAL has recognised the hard work of its nurses.

The Saxon Clinic held a special event for International Nurses Day last month, which coincided with Florence Nightingale's birthday.

Colleagues designed a 'then and now' display board of nurses past and present, which received great interest amongst the staff members and patients alike.

This theme was continued with quizzes about memorable moments in nursing history, and prizes were awarded to the most knowledgeable nurses.

As the United Nations declares 2010 as the year of the nurse, nursing teams and support staff at The Saxon Clinic were presented with watches as a thank you for all their hard work and dedication.

Sue Otter, director of nursing at The Saxon Clinic, said: "We wanted to recognise the hard work and dedication of our nurses - the only profession at patients' bedsides, day and night. The ability to reduce anxiety or fear, demonstrate compassion and always ensure dignity for each and every patient is something we are extremely proud of and are committed to seeing this continue to thrive."

Rod Morphew, executive director at The Saxon Clinic, added: "We recognise the contributions and achievements of our nursing teams and support staff all year round but International Nurses Day gives us an extra opportunity for us to thank them for their care and commitment."

Enter the dragon boat

If you want to witness the Dragon Boat Festival from the waters rather than the shores this year then your luck is in.

There is a place available aboard the boat crewed by a team from fitMK Boot Camp with captain Simon Williams looking to improve on their midway placing in last year's event.

One lucky individual can join in with fitMK for free on Sunday, July 4, when teams from companies, clubs and organisations across Milton Keynes will be battling it out for glory and for charity at Willen Lake.

fitMK is raising money for Climb Your Mountain, the city-based charity which helps those needing motivation and support to achieve personal goals.

Mr Williams said: "We are giving away one seat and are also looking for volunteers to join in with vocal support and raising money for a very worthwhile charity. I am not averse to press-ganging someone from a local pub if we have to but they will get a free fitMK T-shirt."

If you are interested in joining the fitMK crew, there are two training sessions on the water planned for this month, call Simon on 07900 880122 or email simon@fitmk.com

Teaching assistant in line for top award

A DEDICATED teaching assistant who has given children the power of literacy is in line for an award.

Literacy champion Dee Godden, who works at The Milton Keynes Academy, was nominated in the Teaching Assistant category of The Teaching Awards 2010.

She works with 24 Year 7 and 8 students who started at the Academy in September with very poor literacy skills.

Just nine months later the students are all able to read significantly better.

Principal Lorna Caldicott said: "Dee is one of the amazing members of the upgrade team, and it's been wonderful to see how she, and the other team members, have given new skills and confidence to the children."

"She has helped bring about real change to the standard of literacy for a number of students in a short space of time."

Dee understood the need to get the students up to speed quickly, to enable them to catch up with their classmates at a critical time.

Upgrade team leader Barbara Catchpole added: "Dee had worked with special needs children previously, but this was a totally new role to her. She understood the importance of professional development and trained to deliver a programme that has proved very effective and has thrown herself into it totally with a lot of enthusiasm."

Mrs Caldicott added: "Dee is a kind, caring, passionate and very enthusiastic woman with a great sense of humour. Her planning and implementation is of a very high standard and she really gets results."

Literacy champion Dee Godden

Country and Metropolitan Homes has committed £1,500 to the bursary, which will be distributed to worthy causes throughout the area over the coming months. The funding is aimed at helping local charities, schools and groups make a positive and far-reaching contribution to their immediate and surrounding communities.

Country and Metropolitan Homes is behind the Redhouse Park development near Newport Pagnell.

If your organisation would like help e-mail bursary.candmhomes@bigpartnership.co.uk providing a short outline of the sum of money required and what it will be used for.

Hot stuff

A NEW takeaway is opening in Fenny Stratford.

Stone Willy's, in Aylesbury Street, is part of a 2,000 location franchise set up in the United States. It has more than 100 locations in the UK.

The menu includes pizzas plus burgers, chicken fillet burgers, chicken wraps, hot wraps and sides.

Pound shop for city

POUNDLAND is coming to Milton Keynes. Europe's biggest single price discount retailer has announced expansion plans which include a new store opening next month in The Silbury Arcade.

The opening will create up to 30 new jobs.

To celebrate its arrival in Milton Keynes, one of the UK's favourite soap stars will officially welcome shoppers and kick off a family fun day.

Details of the celebrity will be announced nearer to the opening date.

The company's trading director, David Coxon, says: "Poundland has grown significantly over the past year and it's fantastic to see this expansion continuing with a new store in in Milton Keynes. Opening here will create new jobs and a great shopping experience."

"We have been satisfying shoppers for nearly 20 years so we're confident the savvy shoppers in this area will also be delighted by the amazing value that Poundland offers."

Seeing stars

THE Jaipur & Orchid Lounge restaurants are seeing stars.

The two restaurants have been given five and four stars respectively by Milton Keynes Council's food star safety and hygiene ratings system.

Mr Ahad, owner of both businesses, said: "Food safety and hygiene is an absolute top priority for us and supports our commitment to quality in whatever we do. The awards represent the constant hard work by my team to ensure our guests can dine at our restaurants safe in the knowledge that their meal is in good hands."

'Store wars' raise cash

Opal MD Paul Lawton helping volunteers Lee Rogers and Jo Leadbetter in a British Red Cross store

Local Opal branch joins colleagues countrywide to help 27 different charities

STAFF from the Linford Wood branch of Opal, the b2b division of the TalkTalk group, completed the biggest-ever charity drive in the company's history by dedicating hours to fund-raising.

The company launched 'Giving Something Back' week, with employees across its eight UK offices, including the entire management team, volunteering a day of their time and expertise, to raise money for 27 different charities.

A highlight was 'Store Wars', where staff took charge of British Red Cross charity shops across the country, and competed to raise as much money as possible.

Staff descended on stores across the country, including the one in Stony Stratford, to sort, serve and motivate in the name of charity.

The week saw a diverse range of other challenges and fund-raising activity taking place across the region, raising money for charities including Barnardo's, The Prince's Trust and TreeHouse. This included painting chicken sheds at Thrift Farm, Whaddon - the facility for adults with learning difficulties and sorting through goods at the Willen Hospice, Kiln Farm.

Paul Lawton, managing director at Opal, said: "We believe fundraising should be fun and not something people feel they have to do. And that's why we decided to create a series of exciting challenges where people also have the chance to apply their business expertise.

"This was the biggest-ever fund-raising day in Opal's history and it certainly was entertaining. Raising over £3,000 is a massive credit to all our staff who took part, many of whom are planning to return to the charities to offer further support in their own time. The week was such a success we're repeating it next year."

"We rewarded everyone who took part by holding a party at Chester race course at the end of the fund-raising week to acknowledge their efforts and give them chance to swap stories about their experiences. We'll have to work hard to top this next year!"

Giving Something Back Week is part of Opal's annual fundraising drive. Last year saw staff raise a significant amount for the Motor and Allied Trades Benevolent Fund.

SHARED HOME OWNERSHIP DOESN'T MEAN HALF MEASURES

Quality apartments at Axxess MK

Shared home ownership is the smarter way to get on the property ladder. You choose a property you like, buy a share you can afford and pay a subsidised rent on the rest. You save substantially on renting a similar property privately and you can increase your share at any time all the way to 100%.

But buying your first home in manageable, affordable stages doesn't mean compromise. For example, the Axxess MK apartments in Milton Keynes feature contemporary style bathrooms with continental wall tiles and a heated chrome towel rail.

And now apartments at Axxess MK are more affordable than ever. Prices for a one bedroom apartment start from just £32,500 for a 25% share based on a full market price of £130,000. So now you can save money without compromising on quality.

Genesishomes is one of the UK's leading providers of shared ownership properties and gets people from all walks of life onto the property ladder. So take the smarter, even more affordable way to home ownership and call today to secure a viewing at Axxess MK.

SIMON DARNELL

UNDERCOVER LOVER

Kids In Glass Houses featuring Frankie Sandford
SOMEBODY'S being crafty here. What we have here is an incredible display of 'edgy' rock average-ness.

It's so by-the-numbers it's amazing - you have your quiet bits for the verses, the loud bits for the chorus and a key-change at the end. Fantastic, I don't think.

And what about La Sandford's contribution? Well, let's put it this way... what contribution?

She's in the video, but if you were listening on the radio you'd be forgiven for wondering where she was in all this.

Far from the Special Guest Star she's credited as, her function here is as a backing singer, with just one line of her own to deliver.

If there are any Saturdays fans who are thinking of buying this because of her involvement... don't do it, kids.

FIND THE TORCH, BURN THE PLANS

Paul Weller

THIS is almost everything that Undercover Lover isn't.

It's untidy, sprawling, it staggers along as though everyone concerned is in the middle of the greatest pub crawl in history.

Weller doesn't even attempt to sing at his best, instead going for the 'I'll put my heart and soul into this and hopefully that'll be enough' approach.

There are backing singers, but that's all they are. And guess what, it works.

He clearly doesn't care about having hit singles or getting himself on T4.

This song feels for all the world as though the only person he feels he needs to impress is himself.

He certainly sounds like he's having a fine time, and so he should.

It also helps that the song has a fuzzy sound to it - listen to it again and you'll find something new.

June 14-19

YOU can expect a thrilling night of crime as the Agatha Christie Theatre Company presents the Queen of Crime's undisputed masterpiece Witness for the Prosecution.

Emily French, an elderly woman who recently left her considerable estate to the charming young Leonard, is found dead. Murdered.

Though he protests his innocence, Leonard quickly becomes the prime suspect. His plea hinges on his wife's testimony, until the sudden appearance of a mysterious young woman, bearing an unexpected clue.

Will the truth be revealed in time or will Leonard be declared guilty at the hands of the Witness for the Prosecution?

In a world where everyone seems to be harbouring a dark secret, this gripping courtroom drama will keep you guessing until the final fatal moment.

Leading this tour de force cast is Denis Lill (star of the highly acclaimed series, The Royal), Ben Nealon (Soldier, Soldier), and Robert Duncan who played Gus Hedges in the multi-award-winning comedy Drop the Dead Donkey.

HIGHWAYS AGENCY
ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 - SECTION 14(1)(A)
THE A5 TRUNK ROAD (A509 PORTWAY INTERCHANGE (H5) TO A421 STANDING WAY/GRAFTON STREET INTERCHANGE, MILTON KEYNES) (TEMPORARY RESTRICTION AND PROHIBITION OF TRAFFIC) ORDER 201

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Secretary of State for Transport intends to make an Order on the A5 Trunk Road at Milton Keynes to enable repairs to the overbridge at Standing Way (H8) and other routine maintenance works to the carriageway to be carried out in safety.
The works are expected to take place overnight (8pm to 6am) beginning on, or after, Monday 5 July 2010 and last for approximately 9 weeks. The Order would come into force on 28 June 2010 and have a maximum duration of eighteen months.

For the purposes of this notice any reference to the H5 Interchange and the H8 Interchange mean, respectively, the A5/A509 Portway Interchange (H5) and the A5/A421 Standing Way/Grafton Street Interchange (H8).

The effect of the Order would be to -

- close, between 5 July and 4 September 2010, the -
 - 1.1 northbound and southbound carriageways of the A5 from its junctions with the northbound entry and southbound exit slip roads at the H5 Interchange and the northbound exit and southbound entry slip roads at the H8 Interchange,
 - 1.2 A5 southbound entry slip road at the H5 Interchange and the northbound entry slip road at the H8 Interchange, and
 - 1.3 lay-bys adjacent to either carriageway of the A5 situated between points 850 metres north of the H5 Interchange and 780 metres south of the H8 Interchange; and
- between 12 July and 27 August 2010, for 24 hours a day, -
 - 2.1 impose a 50 miles per hour speed limit, in the interest of safety due to narrow lanes, on the southbound carriageway of the A5 from the centre point of the H5 Interchange to a point 200 metres south of the centre point of the overbridge at Standing Way (H8), and
 - 2.2 prohibit vehicles with an overall width exceeding 2.9 metres from proceeding in the offside lane of the southbound carriageway between points 100 metres north and 100 metres south of the centre point of the overbridge at Standing Way(H8).

During the closures southbound traffic would be diverted from the A5 at the H5 Interchange, along H5 Portway to V4 Watling Street continuing to H8 A421 Standing Way where they would turn left along Grove Way to rejoin the A5; and vice versa for northbound traffic.

The temporary mandatory speed limit (which would not apply to emergency service vehicles), carriageway, slip road and lay-by closures and with restriction (which would not apply to works, emergency service or traffic officer vehicles) and diversion routes, would be clearly indicated by traffic signs throughout the works.

LEWIE'S WORLD CUP

MK Dons' skipper Dean Lewington writes exclusively for MK NEWS

IF Milton Keynes needed its fires stoking ahead of the World Cup starting this week, then Saturday's international between Ghana and Latvia at stadiummk would have been the blue-touch paper. What an unbelievable atmosphere! The roads leading up to the stadium were awash with green, yellow and red and the fans created a genuine carnival atmosphere both inside and outside the ground. The whole day had a real World Cup-feel about it and can only have strengthened Milton Keynes appeal as a growing football city, and a Candidate Host in England's 2018 Bid.

But that's for the future, in the here and now I bet it's really got people in the mood for the next four weeks in South Africa. I've loved the World Cup ever since I was a kid, from the group stages where you can watch as many as three games-a-day, to the surprises of the early knockout rounds and the drama of the latter stages it's the stuff of sporting legend.

Naturally hopes will be high for England (like they've ever been anything but) and quite rightly so in my opinion. We've got strength in defence, great ability and a goal threat from midfield, and one of the world's elite in Wayne Rooney leading the line. We'll need the dose of luck we often seem to be lacking along the way, as every successful team does, and to steer clear of more injuries, but we definitely have the players to go a long way.

Elsewhere, take you pick from the usual suspects. Brazil, Spain, Italy, Argentina they've all got a chance with the personnel at their disposal. There are some great subplots as well. Will there be a row in the Dutch camp that threatens their obvious potential? Which African nation will embark on an inevitable fairytale run to the latter stages? Will anyone underestimate the Germans? Will fans in North Korea in a group with Brazil, Portugal and the Ivory Coast actually see any of the tournament given that their leader has banned coverage unless they win?

I haven't put the flags in the car windows, but I can't wait for it all to get started. It's going to capture the entire country and put us through every emotion you can possibly imagine, but we wouldn't have it any other way! As they say in that brilliant advert for probably a fairly decent brand of lager: Enough talk, time for action.

Come on England!

Ghana players celebrate their last minute goal against Latvia on Saturday

Ghana reward fans

GHANA signed off their World Cup preparations with a 1-0 win over Latvia in an international friendly that brought an explosion of colour and noise to stadiummk.

A little over 8,000 spectators went to the home of MK Dons to see the Black Stars in their final warm-up match before heading off to South Africa for the month-long tournament which starts on Friday.

The energetic fans, who sang and danced throughout, had to wait until the 89th minute for the only goal of the game which came in the form of a neat strike from Kwadwo Asamoah.

Among those enjoying 90 minutes of international football, as well as the party atmosphere, was Dons chairman Pete Winkelman who believes it was a taster of things to come for the 2018 World Cup Candidate Host City.

He said: "I think Milton Keynes put a good foot forward and I think we showed our credentials."

"This not only gives us all a flavour and that little bit of experience, but for me it lights the blue touch paper of enthusiasm, of excitement, because it is something a little bit special, a senior international game."

Portsmouth's Kevin-Prince Boateng showed a sparkle of talent, Udinese midfielder Kwadwo Asamoah demonstrated his Serie A talents while striker Asamoah Gyan was determined in front of goal although lacking the final bite.

The Latvians did their best to stagger the free-flowing movement of the Black Stars with their defensive attitude and could have pinched a win on a number of occasions.

Goal ace back

ICE HOCKEY

LAST season's top goal scorer Monir Kalgoum has committed his future to MK Lightning next season.

The re-signing of the 26-year-old Swede, who had 35 goals and 57 assists to his name, is a huge boost to the club's hopes of retaining the English Premier League title.

Kalgoum joined Lightning at the beginning of the 2009/10 season from Austrian club, Kapfenberg, and is a huge favourite among the Lightning faithful.

Netminding duo Barry Hollyhead and Alex Mettam have also put pen to paper to keep them in Milton Keynes for another year while Grant McPherson signed on for a fifth successive campaign with Lightning.

Meanwhile, MK Thunder are also continuing to rebuild their squad three months before embarking on their 2010/11 English National League Division One season.

Lewis Clifford has been confirmed as the Thunder coach, and he will assist general manager Dave Fairhurst in assembling the new team.

This season Thunder have opted to bring in players who are based around Milton Keynes, with only three allowed from outside the area who have played at a higher level.

They have already snapped up the services of Jamie Line from EPL's Basingstoke Bison who will also train with Lightning when available.

Lines, a forward, has spent time at Bracknell Bees, Slough Jets and Basingstoke, as well as two years with Great Britain's Under-18s.

Ross Bowers has also switched from Lightning to Thunder.

Division one

A COMPREHENSIVE six wicket win allowed New Bradwell to extend their lead at the top of the table to 45 points.

Naseem Malik was the undeniable star of the show with stunning figures of five wickets for just five runs as Studham were dismissed for 97.

New Bradwell then eased to victory with by posting 100 on the board with six wickets to spare.

Milton Keynes City are hanging on to second place by a point after taking 20 points from a winning draw with Aspley Guise.

City got off to the ideal start as David Loveland hit an unbeaten 101 supported by Russ Heady (54) helped them total 336-4.

However, Aspley were stubborn in their reply and were able to hang on to 166-9 to take a share of the points.

Newport Pagnell suffered an eight wicket defeat at the hands of North Crawley.

Paul Braddy (51) top score for Newport but they were all out for 131 thanks to the bowling of Richard Bryce (4-23) and Mick Howe (3-19).

In response Matt Goss' unbeaten 81 saw North Crawley ease to victory.

A century from Paul Harris was not enough to earn Eaton Bray maximum points from Biddenham.

Harris (101) and Andy Norris (58) were key to Bray's total of 236-5 but the bowlers were unable to dismiss Biddenham (155-7) and had to settle for a winning draw.

Elstow (135 all out) were beaten by 99 runs by Cublington (234-7).

Division Two

MILTON Keynes have cut Buckland & Aston Clinton's lead at the top down to four points following their win over Shenley Church End.

MK removed Shenley for 75, Joe Fairbrother claimed five wickets for 15 runs, before easing to a five wicket win.

That result added with Buckland & Aston Clinton (142 all out) losing by three runs to Caddington (145 all) has moved MK to within four points of the leaders with a game in hand.

Red Bull pair kiss and make up after spin

MOTOR RACING

AFTER colliding at the Turkish Grand Prix Red Bull Racing drivers Mark Webber and Sebastian Vettel both pointed the blame at each other and unrest in the team threatened to dent their title prospects.

But the team mates have put the incident, which saw Vettel spin out of the race after the right rear of his car clipped the front left of Webber, behind them and vowed to move on to end speculation about disputes in the Red Bull camp - which was only benefiting their closest rivals McLaren.

Webber has even extended his current contract to stay with the team, and continue as Vettel's team mate, for the 2011.

The drivers met last week with the rest of the Red Bull Racing team at the factory in Tilbrook last week for a debrief on the Turkish Grand Prix.

On Wednesday, after what was described as a "positive meeting" between Webber, Vettel, team principal Christian Horner, chief technical officer Adrian Newey and Red Bull advisor Dr. Helmut Marko, the team officially drew a line under the incident and began focusing on this weekend's Canadian Grand Prix.

Vettel, fifth in the drivers' standing, said: "The team had got us into a great position and it wasn't good for them what happened so I'm sorry for them that we lost the lead of the race. Mark and I are racers and we were racing. We are professionals and it won't change how we will work together going forward. We have a great team and the spirit is very strong. I'm looking forward to Canada."

Webber, leading the championship by five points, said: "I feel for everyone at Red Bull, at the factory and everyone involved. Seb and I will make sure it doesn't happen again and will continue to work openly together, no problem. We have talked enough on it now, it's done, we're looking ahead and I'm focused on the race in Canada next week."

Cherwell League

Division One

BLETCHLEY were forced to share a draw with Oxford Downs on a batsman friendly surface.

After winning the toss Bletchley put Oxford in to bat, and the decision looked wise when an LBW decision went in their favour.

But then a promising partnership between Woods and Bartlett got Oxford's total back on track until Bartlett departed for 64 to leave his side 121-2.

Graham Simpson was the pick of the Bletchley bowlers with figures of 4-100 as Oxford finished on 254-5.

Bletchley stuttered in the reply losing three wickets with 130 posted on the board, and when Amir Hussain went soon after coming to the crease the wickets continued to fall.

With nine overs remaining, and 163-7 on the board, James Clarke (30no) joined Simpson (80) in the middle.

Once Simpson was dismissed it was left to Clarke and Roberts (27no) to edge their way to 238-8 and the draw.

QPR winger joins Dons

BY SIMONE CORGAN

MK Dons have captured Angelo Balanta on a season-long loan from Queens Park Rangers.

The impressive winger was at stadiummk yesterday to agree terms and will join up with the squad for pre-season on July 1 - the day he celebrates his 20th birthday.

The highly-rated youngster is the latest addition to Karl Robinson's re-vamped Dons side.

Five new additions, David Martin, Gary Mackenzie, Lewis Guy, Dietmar Hamman, and now Balanta have relocated to Milton Keynes since Robinson took over at the end of the season.

Balanta came through the ranks at QPR and worked under Dons assistant John Gorman who had the same role with the West London club last season.

Gorman sang the praises of Balanta, he said: "Angelo is only 19, but he has so much potential. He's a wonderful talent and we're fortunate to have acquired him because there will have been plenty of clubs in the hunt."

"He was a revelation during his three months on loan with Wycombe during their promotion campaign so hopefully he can come here and do the same kind of job.

"He'll be a very exciting player for the fans to watch. He's genuinely two-footed and will offer us something different either off the left flank or as a striker."

Colombian-born Balanta found first team appearances limited to one start and three cameos as substitute. In the 2008/09 season he spent three months on loan at Wycombe Wanderers and in eleven appearances scored three goals.

While Robinson has been busy in the transfer market snapping up free agents, he is also being realistic and knows some of his star players, such as Peter Leven and Jermaine Easter, may attract attention from other clubs.

But at the moment, he is concentrating on continuing to strengthen his side.

He said: "We're constantly speaking to different people. Regardless of what happens now I'm still happy with the squad that we've got it will only be the case of someone coming in better than what we've got and that happens in any business."

We're extremely happy, motivated and strong enough to go full steam ahead when the league kicks off on August 7."

He added: "You very rarely get anyone bought at this time of the year. I think if you look at the transfers they're free transfers, very little have moved for money. Money starts coming in at the beginning of July. That's when you start seeing money put on the table because that's when people need those players."

That's how the transfer window works - all the frees get taken up, money starts getting spent, then the big money starts getting spent right up to deadline day.

There's no offers for anyone yet but it's a long window and it's a long summer for all of us."
